The History page shows a Digimon's evolution "tree". It shows its past generations, and, as players interact with their Digimon partners by praising/scolding them, winning battles with them, gaining more experience with them, etc., they will unlock the requirements for different evolutions, which they can easily refer back to.

I have spent the past week making a visual digivolution guide for the game Digimon World Dawn/Dusk. Given how much effort I put into it, I figured it would be a shame to keep it to myself so I'm sharing it here. The document is set to 'View Only' so if you'd like to make changes, please make a copy for your own Google Drive.

scattered data in Gizumon into a human body, so the data can merge into human's D.N.A. and when the D.N.A. is released the Digimon form can take over human body and merge powers (human and Digimon). When the Bio evolution is completed, the Digimon data reverts back into a Digi-Egg and leaves the human body, and the human cannot evolve into a Digimon again unless re-injected.
